DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Claims 21-34 is acknowledged.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: See that in page 1, line 23 "cofied" should be co-fired.

Appropriate correction is required.

Also, the specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: See that while the specification makes mention of "LTCC" and "co-fired" ceramics, such terminology has not been described in the disclosure in detail. The claims recite use of such material, however, the disclosure gives no example of what kind of material meets this requirements. For the purpose of this examination the examiner assumes any ceramic meets this limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 2827

Claims 21-24, 26, 28-31, and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nguyen (US5892279).

Nguyen discloses (See Figs 13-21):

- An electronic device comprising: a first member 42 comprising silicon (Col. 8, lines 2+); and a second member 38 comprising a low temperature co-fired ceramic (LTCC) material (Col. 5, lines 5+); said first and second members having opposing surfaces thereof anodically bonded together to form a hermetic seal (Col. 9, lines 36+) therebetween.
- An electronic device according to Claim 21 wherein said first and second members have opposing generally planar major opposing surfaces (see that the above layers are shown as two layers with surfaces opposed to one another).
- An electronic device according to Claim 21 wherein at least one of said first and second members comprises at least one cooling structure therein (Col 7, line 62).
- An electronic device according to Claim 21 wherein said first member further comprises at least one first micro-fluidic cooling structure therein (Col. 7, line 65; also see fig. 15, number 60).
- An electronic device according to Claim 24 wherein said second member further comprises at least one second micro-fluidic cooling structure aligned with the at least one first micro-fluidic cooling structure (see fig. 10, reference numbers 60,42,38; see alignment of structures relative one another).

- An electronic device according to Claim 26 further comprising at least one integrated circuit (see IGBT 126) adjacent said at least one second micro-fluidic cooling structure.
- An electronic device according to Claim 28 wherein said at least one integrated circuit comprises electrical connections (see unlabeled wires); and wherein the second member comprises external electrical connections (see that unlabeled wires are connected to leads EP) connected to the electrical connections of said at least one integrated circuit.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 25,27,32, and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nguyen.

See that Nguyen discloses all the above limitations. However, see that Nguyen fails to specifically disclose:

- said at least one first micro-fluidic cooling structure comprises an evaporator.
- said at least one second micro-fluidic cooling structure comprises at least one micro-fluidic passageway.

Although Nguyen fails to specifically describe an evaporator and a micro-fluidic passageway, any heated layer contacting the circulating fluid acts as an evaporating/evaporator. Also, see that for the fluid to circulate, or to even be present a passageway or cavity has to be present.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made that a heated layer that drives heat away from the device would evaporate the existing fluid in a liquid containing heat-slug; that a passageway or cavity is needed in order to contain the fluid.
